Temple Sinai testimonial

“The temple’s new heating, ventilation, and air conditioning system (HVAC) was completed on time and on budget. Our owner representative, Adam Prill of Artisan Partners, did a fine job of guiding the temple through the system design, selection, and construction process.

Our new system includes variable refrigerant volume (VRV) components that allow for separate controls for each of the rooms in the temple. Now, the system automatically adjusts, efficiently bringing cool or warm air into the temple areas as needed.”
