Artisan Partners Begins Construction Project For New Synagogue In Kemp Mill Section Of Silver Spring, MD

April 16, 2014

Share This:

Artisan Partners Construction Services announced that construction has begun for new synagogue facilities for Chabad of Silver Spring, an Orthodox Jewish Congregation.

It is located at 519 Lamberton Drive in the Kemp Mill section of Silver Spring.

The project includes the demolition of an existing structure on the site and the construction of a a 6,000-square-foot building. The new facilities will house a sanctuary, classrooms, office space, and a library.

As construction managers, Artisan will oversee construction drawings, permitting, and management of work through completion. Scott-Long Construction will serve as the general contractor for the project.

This new synagogue project is a continuation of Artisan’s active involvement in construction and renovation services for Jewish congregations. Previous major construction projects were performed on behalf of Temple Sinai in Washington, DC and Young Israel Shomrai Emunah in the Kemp Mill section of Silver Spring, Md.
