Artisan Partners Construction Services announced that it has been retained by Temple Sinai to design and implement a facilities upgrade and construction program for the Washington, DC synagogue.

The phased-in facilities/construction projects will include:

- Exterior accessibility improvements
- Electrical system modernization and life-safety

upgrades

- HVAC improvements
- Ceiling and lighting fixture replacement, along with energy efficient lighting packages
- Lobby and restroom renovations, with ADA compliance
- New office and administrative space construction
- Sanctuary and social hall renovations

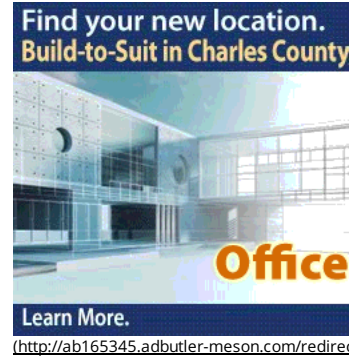

"We are pleased to be onboard as construction managers to help save the temple time and money by upgrading and modernizing its facilities in a well thought-out, efficient, and organized manner," said Adam Prill, Artisan Partners principal.

The Temple Sinai synagogue is a 45,000-square-foot facility that includes a sanctuary, classrooms, library, office space, and multipurpose rooms.

Artisan previously completed a total overhaul of the temple's mechanical system. Its current work there is a continuation of Artisan's active involvement in construction and renovation services for Jewish congregations. Previously it performed a major construction project on behalf of Young Israel Shomrai Emunah in Silver Spring, Md.; and currently is overseeing the construction of new synagogue facilities for Chabad of Silver Spring.
